

FOR THE PLANNING GUIDE

Please print this 'read me' file first – it may assist when opening documents

After unzipping the eBook folder double click the eBook icon to open up the eBook. It is a small programme that is free of any malware but please feel free to scan it with your own virus protection software before installation if you are unsure.

It has been password protected for you personally. Upon first opening you will be given a reference number. Please make a note of this number & email it to me requesting your password. We will then email you with the correct password.

Re-open the eBook & cancel the warning message. Locate the password icon tab on the top of the eBook browser & install your password (use copy & paste of the password from the email to be sure).

Once this eBook is opened on your main computer you will not be able to re-open it on another computer so please make sure you open the eBook on the main computer that you will be using to read the eBook. All the text is also copy protected as is any printing facility.

The eBook is only designed to read electronically using a windows based computer.

Thank you for your order.

Regards.

MSM

INFORMATIVE WARNING & DISCLAIMER (Max Build Guide)

The information contained within the guide is merely a record of procedures that has worked (in varying degrees) for previous applicants in the past & there is no guarantee that the same procedures adopted by others will work or that they are entirely legal & without risk. All of the material in this guide is for information only. It does not constitute & must not be treated as advice on the merits purchasing, selling or developing land or buildings. Any comments made in this guide are not an endorsement or recommendation of any particular tactic or approach of any particular method stated in this guide. Viewers of this guide must not place any reliance on material included in this guide in any investment or development that they make or refrain from making. While reasonable care is taken in the compilation of material for this guide, the author makes no warranty or representation on the accuracy or completeness of any material this guide. The author does not accept any liability whatsoever including liability for negligence for any losses or damage (whether direct, indirect, reasonably foreseeable or otherwise) resulting from this guide. This guide ONLY deals with Planning issues & some of the areas discussed will require other consents such as Building Regulation Approval, Party Wall Act approval etc. which do not form part of this guide.

By purchasing & reading this guide, you have agreed to the following:-

1. Indemnify the author against any claim from yourself or any third parties for any loss whatsoever.
2. The information contained within the guide is merely a record of procedures that has worked (in varying degrees) for previous applicants in the past & there is no guarantee that the same procedures adopted by others will work or that they are entirely legal & without risk.
3. Any guide purchaser must decide for themselves the value of any statements & how they may be applied for your particular application.
4. Every Guide user is advised to consult with their own Planning Consultant or Building Design Agent to review & discuss the merits of the guide before implementation of any sections to reduce the risk of abortive fees, possible fines & time etc.

**end ****